Wisconsin's Thanksgiving Connection

One of the many ways we give thanks is with food shared with family and friends on Thanksgiving Day. Many traditional Thanksgiving foods are found in abundance here in Wisconsin. While on a journey south along Lake Winnebago in 1669, Jesuit missionary Claude Allouez wrote of "two turkeys perched on a tree, male and female, resembling perfectly those of France, same size, same color and same cry."

Hunted to near extinction in the 19th century, wild turkeys historically had been abundant in central and southern Wisconsin, providing an important source of food. After a successful restoration program, wild turkeys are again a common site.

If cranberry sauce is on the menu, it quite likely came from Wisconsin. Cranberries have been grown commercially in Wisconsin for more than 100 years. Grown in bogs, this marsh berry was well known to most Indians who often dried them or used them in a tea like drink.

Wisconsin is also a leading producer of many of the vegetables on our Thanksgiving table, including green beans, corn, squash and potatoes (mashed, of course). And no Thanksgiving meal would be complete without pumpkin pie...also commonly grown in our neighborhood.

Handpicked for centuries by Chippewa and Menominee Indians, wild rice, often used in stuffing, is another common addition to the Thanksgiving table in Wisconsin.

Since the first official Thanksgiving was declared in Wisconsin in 1830, Wisconsinites have celebrated the day with good food. We hope this year finds you and your family with much to be thankful for!

What?? No Football!!

Imagine...a fall Sunday without a Packer game! Here are a few things you might consider doing on your football days off! The Pack has a bye next weekend so Sunday October 11th you might head up to Egg Harbor for the Pumpkin Patch Festival, or stay closer to home at the National Railroad Museum and ride the train to the pumpkin patch, where everyone is welcome to select a pumpkin of their own. This year we've got Thanksgiving Day football but you'll probably still be shopping on Sunday the 28th! Then a Monday night game opens up Sunday December 6th. Just down the street from Brennan Buick, A Heritage Hill Christmas is on from Dec 5th thru the 19th. The 25 period buildings will be dressed for the holidays. You can stroll through, listen to carolers and enjoy a hot chocolate.

Ask Bob Williams Brennan Buick Service Manager

Q: I'm taking off on a road trip to Florida soon.
Anything I should do get my car ready?

A: First, let me say that I don't want this to sound like a sales pitch, but the best thing you can do is to come in and let us give you a multi-point inspection. We check major components including belts, hoses, lights, windshield washer fluid, wiper blades, engine oil and coolant. If we do find anything that needs attention you'll be able to take care of it before it spoils your trip. There are a few other things I'd suggest like packing a flashlight with new batteries and a small first aid kit. It's always a good idea to carry a spare set of vehicle keys. And a couple of 'just in case' thoughts: Plan your route ahead of time and leave an itinerary with a relative or neighbor. Bring medications and prescription information along with your doctor's phone number. And of course your cell phone or a sign that says "Call Police" in the event of trouble. Don't forget about the safety and convenience features of OnStar if your vehicle is equipped with it. If you've got any service questions email me at bob@brennanbuick.com, or give me a call at (92) 436-4940.

College Holiday Concerts

A lot of people enjoy attending holiday concerts and there are a variety of events coming up at the big venues like The Resch Center. Some smaller and more intimate alternatives you might not have considered are the excellent concerts at St Norbert College and The University of Wisconsin Green Bay. St Norbert College Music Department's "Festival of Christmas" concert is Friday Dec 4th in the Hall of Fine Arts and the next night, Saturday Dec 5th, at the Saint Norbert Abbey you can enjoy a free concert called the Brass and Organ Christmas Spectacular. At UWGB the Chorale Concert Choir presents "Messiah" Sunday December 6th and on Wednesday December 9th the Concert Choir & Chamber Singers have scheduled a free evening of entertainment. The UWGB events are held at The Wiedner Center.
